

CRR Global Corporate Services

Overview

CRR Global has helped hundreds of companies, non-profit organizations and government agencies around the world through our ground breaking Relationship Systems Intelligence work.

Coaches, consultants, HR and OD professionals have used CRR Global's extensive curriculum and ORSC™ Certified coaches to tackle some of the common ailments that plague work environments:

- ◇ Ineffective or toxic communication
- ◇ Low team morale or burnout
- ◇ Conflict avoidance and non-resolution
- ◇ Lack of creativity and productivity
- ◇ Confusion about roles on a team

Corporate Training & Consulting

Are you an executive or employee facing an organizational challenge within your company that needs to be addressed and explored?

Are you a coach who has landed a big client and needs help scaling up to accommodate their needs?

CRR Global offers internal coach and leadership training and consulting services to create the ground conditions for maximum organizational effectiveness.

Together with our most senior certified practitioners, we bring:

- ◇ 20 years experience working with corporate and nonprofit organizations.
- ◇ Experienced ORSC™ coach/consultants in 30 countries around the world.
- ◇ Capacity to work with any size organization, large or small.
- ◇ Multiple areas of application expertise; from change management to leadership development, employee engagement to team effectiveness.

If your organization or client would benefit from internal ORSC training or consulting please contact us to create a customized proposal for your review.

Practitioner Consulting & Supervision Services

Regardless of whether you are a fully-trained and practicing coach, or just launching your career, CRR Global offers consultation services to support client challenges and opportunities.

Our consultants and supervisors are certified ORSC practitioners with a wide range of content expertise in working with teams, couples and families. They can help you customize and apply ORSC approaches and tools to your current practice.

Mentoring

Mentoring provides current and past students with the opportunity to develop themselves as ORSC practitioners. It is frequently used when changing professions (for example, moving from therapy to coaching).

Others use mentoring to develop new competencies such as team or couples coaching. All our mentors are ORSC certified, experienced and successful practitioners in their areas of expertise.

Custom Program Design

If you would like to include more ORSC tools in your workshops or if you are seeking to develop a very specific program for a client's organization, CRR Global can help you design a powerful experiential program. We have many years experience developing customized workshops and interventions for a variety of industries.

"My effectiveness as a trainer and coach working with individuals, partnerships and organizations has been greatly enhanced by the ORSC philosophy and training.

In a custom design project with the CRR Global team, my business partner and I created a course powered by the ORSC™ Model called Alchemy that is now being offered to facilitators and coaches throughout the world. I highly recommend tapping into the considerable resources CRR Global brings to their client engagements."
